Polio Council for L. A. County

For the purpose of informing the public of latest poliomyelitis developments and to coordinate the efforts of various agencies concerned with the disease, a Poliomyelitis Co-ordinating Council has been formed in Los Angeles county.

Represented in the Council are the State Department of Public Health acting as co-ordinator and the health departments of Los Angeles County hospital, Los Long Beach, and Pasadena, Los Angeles Couny hospital, Los Angeles private hospitals, National Foundation for Infantile paralysis, American Red Cross, and the Los Angeles County Medical Society.

The following statement concerning poliomyelitis has been approved by the health and medical authorities of the group:

"The cause of poliomyelitis is a virus, a form of germ too small to be seen under the microscope. It may be found in the nose and throat secretions and in the bowel discharges of persons with the disease and of apparently health carriers. Exactly how the virus travels from one person to another is not known. It may be through the air, hrough contamination of food and drink, by way of insects or by some combination of these routes. Many individuals acquire the virus with only slight signs of illness or none at all. Such apparently healthy persons may spread the virus, but there is no practical way to detect these carriers.

"Clinical observations indicate trat any of the following factors may precipitate serous paralysis in any person who has the virus: physical exhaustion, such as after excessive exercise; chilling of the body, such as would come from a plunge into extremely cold water on a hot day; or tonsil and adenoid operations.

"There is no evidence that the virus of poliomyelitis is more likely to spread in a swimming pool than in any other place where people assemble. Chilling and fatigue from swimming, however, may play some role in the development of paralysis. Quarantine of swimming pools and of other public gathering places has never been known to affect the course of the epidemic."

According to an editorial in the American Journal of Public Health, August, 1946: "During an epidemic, advantage may possibly accrue from reducing the total number of daily contacts between individuals, but this should be regulated on a voluntary basis rather than by legal com-

Arcadia Council Investigates Sierra Madre Animal Setup

In view of the fact that the Arcadia pound has been closed the California Federation for Children and Animal Protection applied formally for the privilege of handling the Arcadia pound last Tuesday night before a special hearing which was held after the regular city council session.

The council voted to investigate the Sierra Madre Small Animal Shelter which is operating successfully under the jurisdiction of the California Federation for Children and Animal Protection.

Finds Own Car Stolen Weeks Ago

Finding and recovering a stolen car—his own— while returning from a vacation in the High Sierras was the recent experience of Hubert Tuttle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Tuttle, 152 E. Laurel avenue.

While driving back to Sierra Madre, Tuttle saw a car resembling his own, parked by a service station near Gilroy. On stopping to examine it he found his suspicions confirmed and took possession of the vehicle.

A burned out connecting rod was the only damage that had resulted.

Tuttle's car was stolen two months ago, and its theft confessed by a suspect who was arrested shortly afterward. But the thief could not "remember" where he had left it.

Local people in Gilroy said the car had been parked for several weeks, at the spot where it was recovered.

Honorably discharged from the Army in April, Tuttle plans on returning to school in September and is, needless to say, grateful for the recovery of his transportation.

REV. CARL SMITH TO SERVE ON RECREATION COMMISSION

A report on the progress of Ramona avenue street improvement, brief discussion of a proposed new garbage disposal ordinance, and clarification of the city pound master's authority, featured a regular meeting of the City Council Tuesday evening.

The council also named the Rev. Carl Smith to fill a vacancy on the Recreation Commission, and voted to purchase a large waste paper receptacle for placement on a downtown business block. Action was also taken adopting an ordinance creating a two hour parking zone on East Montecito street and amending the dog ordinance to provide a $2.00 penalty for dog owners who are late in renewing licenses.

Henry O. Smyser, addressing the council in behalf of Ramona avenue home owners, asked the reason for delay in the grading and paving of Ramona avenue.

City Engineer Joseph Hurley replied that the improvement of Ramona avenue had been held up bcause of the projected widening and grading of Michillinda avenue. Agreement must be reached with the Pasadena and Arcadia street department as to the degree of grade to be established on Michillinda, and this will be done before the next meeting of council, Hurley said.

Questions on proposed plans for a new garbage ordinance were asked the council by members of the audience, led by Harold F. Roberts. Mayor Steinberger explained that the garbage disposal measure was still under study and that the new ordinance has not yet taken definite form.

Donald Thayer, from the audience, brought up the question of swearing in the city poundmaster as a member of the city police force, and requested that full police authority be given the poundmaser.

City Attorney Thomas A. Reynolds replied that the authority of a poundmaster was all that the ordinance creating the position provided for.

"He may have additional authority as a sate officer, but not through the city." Reynolds said.

In reply to Thayer's question as to the pound master's police authority within the realm of animal protection, the city attorney stated that he must turn in complaints to the police department, who would issue citations where necessary.

Letters were read from Harold F. Roberts and E. Waldo Ward, recommending appointof the Rev. Carl Smith to fill one of the vacancies on the city recreation commission.

Councilman Hoegee moved and Schiltz seconded nomination of the Reverend Smith to the commission. The council approved unanimously.

On the recommendation of City Street and Water Superintendent Joe Swanson, the council voted to purchase a large street waste paper receptble to be placed on the north side of Kersting Court.

Approval was voted, after the second reading, or an ordinance limiting parking privileges on East Montecito street to two hours, between Baldwin and Mountain Trail avenues.

Also approved was an ordinance providing a penalty of $2.00 for dog owners whose licenses are not paid by July 1 of each year.

On the suggestion of Joe Swanson, street and water superintendent, the council voted to arrange for a joint meeting of the Arcadia city councils, to consider joint water problems of the two cities.

Resignation of Clarence Huntsinger from the City Recreation commission was read and accepted. Since Huntsinger was the city school board representative on the commission, his vacancy will be filled from the school board membership, it was pointed out.

George E. Otto, representing a contracting company engaged in building prefabricated homes for veterans, appealed to the council in behalf of Ralph Pierce, a veteran, who had been refused a building permit for a prefabricated plywood house to be erected at 305 Sturtevant Drive. He stated that several of the houses, built on a 2" by 2" framework, are under construction in Burbank and that they have been accepted in other areas of Los Angeles county.

The matter was referred to the building inspector for further study and consideration.

Former Mayor Al Myers, now of San Diego, was present at the meeting, and was introduced to the council and audience by Mayor Steinberger.

Maj. Hoteling Held Kiwanis Attention

Members and guests of the Kiwanis Club heard a detailed account, Tuesday, of the European war experience of Major Clyde Hoteling of the Los Angeles Fire Deparment, who was twice shot down and twice a prisoner of war, while a navigator with the Eighth Air Force.

General Edward Clinton Young announced plans for Kiwanis assistance to war veterans, and Roy Pickett was named as liason man between the Kiwanis servicemen's rehabilitation committee and the local veterans organidations.

Guests of the club were Jerry Fairfield, Dr. Irving E. Miller, Scott M. Adams, E. S. Gilcott, and O. A. Prest.

Entertainment was furnished by Nancy Welch and Alberta Engbold, accompanied by Mrs. J. C. Hamilton. The girls were dressed in German costumes for a musical number from Hansel and Gretel. Other musical numbers were: "Softly as a Morning Sunrise", by Romberg and "My Song".

Scheduled to speak at next week's program is the program chairman of National Broadcasting Company.

Certificate of Merit Received By the Hartman Pharmacy

13 Cities Represented At Municipal Officer Dinner Friday Evening

When the Hartman Pharmacy was awarded the Certificate of Merit by the International Association of Rexall Clubs this week, it is high time that the new people in the city should know more of the background of its owner, Rudolph R. Hartman. As to the merit award it is issued each year to a few selected drug stores, following a survey by the Association which is composed of 10,000 independent druggists joined together.

Rudy Hartman didn't enter the drug business, he was born to it and truly grew up in the store where he now serves the community. The store was opened in 1905 by his father, F. H. Hartman and Rudolph served his apprenticeship five years before graduating as a phormacist at USC in 1916. He became a partner three years later.

Probably the outstanding characteristic of Mr. Hartman is his desire to help people. Having two sons of his own, he has been a mentor and inspiration to many a young chemist and amateur photographer. He was never too busy to talk to a boy. Not only the youngsters sought his advice but during the war, parents were often heard to say, "I'll skip down and see what Rudy thinks". It was often a word of sympathy how to pack a box for overseas, what films to select, etc.

In mentioning his aptitude for being an influence for good in the city it might be noted that he is a deacon in the Congregational church, has served in practically all of the church offices; he was many years president of the local school board and served as Master of the local Masonic Lodge.

Office Set Up to Assist Veterans in Applying for Terminal Leave Pay

September 5-12-19 Dates At City Hall Dugout Competent Advisors On Hand Each Evening

Assistance to local veterans, in making application for terminal leave pay, will be available at the Sierra Madre City Hall Dugout beginning at 8 o'clock this evening, Harold F. Roberts, chairman of the American Legion terminal leave committee, announced yesterday.

This service is offered, free of charge to all veterans, regardless of membership in the Legion or other veterans' organizations, Roberts emphasized ,and will be offered each Thursday evening through September 19.

Any ex-service man or woman of World War II, unable to appear at the stated times, is asked to telephone Roberts, chairman of the committee, who will attempt to arrange for a member of the committee to give personal assistance.

Application forms, which veterans must fill out to receive pay for unused leave while in military service ,are available at the Sierra Madre postoffice and at the city clerk's office, City Hall.

Maximum time for which terminal leave payment may be received is 120 days, figured at the rate of two and one-half days per month of active service since September 8, 1939, Roberts pointed out.

Payment is made on base pay and longevity, plus 70 cents per day for individual subsistence and an additional $1.25 per day for the subsistence of each dependent, Roberts said.

Neighbor City Chooses Queen By Contest

Arcadia is well on the road to selecting its queen for the Arcadia Float for 1947. A rose committee from the Chamber of Commerce and the Junior Chamber have worked out details for a Float Queen Contest. Robert Dorn of the Tournament of Roses committee has been meeting with the Arcadians to help outline the regulations governing the contest.

The queen will be no younger than 16, no older than 22. She is to be a local girl. The plan calls for each entrant being sponsored by one of the service clubs or other civic groups. The contest will run from October 15 to December 15.

No names will be revealed during the contest, entries being identified by number only.

The two float committees are working on design of the Arcadia entry, with several sketches already submitted.

Accountant at Hawks Plant Relates Horrors of Prison Life in Occupied France

The cheapness of life in a Nazi concentration camp, in occupied France, is a very real thing to Fay L. Disbrow, accountant at the Sierra Engineering company on East Montecito street.

Five years ago, Disbrow and his wife were in solitary confinement in separate Nazi prisons in France, neither knowing if the other still lived.

"I can tell you it gets pretty bad," recalled Disbrow, "when you're tossed into a narrow cell, all alone, with nothing to read, no facilities to write with. But food and sanitary conditions were really bad things."

"We were fed twice a day. At 9:30 in the morning, the Nazi guards brought around a bowl of vile hot water they called soup, and a pound of hard, dry bread. The soup was made out of cowpeas which weren't cooked enough to eat. At 4 p. m. we got another bowl of that vile hot water. That was all. Can you imagine living on such a diet for five months and 28 days? Hundreds of others had to endure it much longer."

There were no sanitary facilities in the prison. The stench was unbearable. And prisoners had no opportunity to take a bath, no matter how long they had been incarcerated, Disbrow said.

The Disbrows were imprisoned by the Nazis in May, 1941 for attempting to leave Paris without German authority, after waiting for three months for an exit visa to come through from the Berlin government.

Demanding their rights as American citizens and the assistance of an anti-Nazi German officer were responsible for the Disbrows' release, for the U. S. was not yet officially at war with Germany.

Many atrocities were witnessed by the Disbrows in occupied Paris, after their release from prison and while waiting transportation out of France. Escorted by the Gestapo on the Spanish border, they continued to Lisbon, Portugal, where they secured passage on an American Clipper plane to New York.

The accountant says that not all the Germans, even in occupied France, were bad. Some of them still followed the dictates of human conscience.

It was the French underground, however, that caused Disbrow to marvel. Even with the German Gestapo everywhere on the alert, the French underground still operated most effectively.

"One incident I recall in particular," he said, "was the case of an allied aviator who had to parachute out of his crippled plane into occupied territory. The men of the underground found the flyer, took him out from under the noses of the Gestapo, kept him for a week and finally got him back to his own unit."

Arriving back in the U. S. late in 1941, the Disbrows had lost all their savings to the Germans and were down to 35 cents and 35 pounds of clothing between them, Disbrow recalls.

"But we were well treated, compared with many," he said. "When we left Nazi territory, about 360 Americans and their families were interned at Compiegne, where the First World War Armistice car was located. When the car was moved to Germany by Hitler, those families were taken along. No one yet knows what happened to all of them."

Disbrow is a veteran of the First World War, who left the U. S. on the first ship to carry troops o France in 1917. His wife was the first French girl to marry an American soldier

ON-THE-JOB TRAINING

According to reliable reports more veterans are now training on the job than are in schools and colleges. This may be due to the fact that in many instances it offered better financial assistance, also educational institutions find it difficult to take care of their applicants. Financial assistance for on-the-job training has recently been changed. It is now limited to $175 per month. If the veteran receives less than this amount a Federal allowance is made to equal it.

Four years is the maximum time for on-the-job training but this time may be extended by the Veterans' Administration.

There are three kinds of training, Apprenticeship, Specialty and Refresher. Apprenticeship may be defined as a trainee on-the-job where working standards have been set up by recognized agencies. Specialty, where the employer sets up special working standards. Refresher, where the trainee has been previously trained, but needs brushing up on old methods or learning new ones.

Veterans have four years after date of discharge or termination of the War, whichever is later, in which to apply for training. No tranining will be afforded beyond nine years after the war's termination. Veterans must prove their fitness for the job. Probationary periods are allowed for both employer and trainee. The employer may discharge the trainee during the probation period for good cause, and the trainee may have his training changed completely or in part, depending upon the Administrator's decision. The Administrator may permit the trainee to take a correspondence course to supplement his job training. Pensions now received by Veterans on-the-job training will not be affected. For on-the-job training apply to the U. S. E. S. 745 East Green Street, Pasadena, or 105 W. Foothill, Monrovia.

Applicants for terminal leave pay should see Roy Pickett, Sierra Madre.

"KEEP YOUR CITY CLEAN"

For as high class a residential city as Sierra Madre to have the dirty streets and side walks that characterize our downtown blocks these days, is highly surprising, and an extreme reflection on civic pride.

Of course any city is as clean as its most careless citizens, but the best people are SOMETIMES careless; and when one person's discarded newspaper is allowed to blow along the street, or when one child is permitted to throw a banana peeling through a car window onto the sidewalk, then untidiness begins. From there on, there is less restraint on those who find it easy to add to the litter on an already dirty street.

How about putting refuse containers on the principal downtown corners and in the middle of the longer business blocks, labelled with the legends: "KEEP YOUR CITY CLEAN". Then, with individual business houses regularly sweeping down the sidewalks in front of their establishments, Sierra Madre will be as clean and neat as it deserves to be.

What a good project for an alert civic organization to sponsor!

Over 131,000,000,000 board feet of American lumber and almost 60,000,000 cords of pulpwood were used in the four years of the war.

Pomona Loses to Sierra Madre; Next Game at Glendora

A 19 to 4 victory over Pomona was pitched, batted and run by the Sierra Madre American Legion soft ball team, Friday evening at Pomona.

Quickly amassing 10 runs in the third inning, the Sierra Madreans out-paced Pomona throughout the game. Kiggins shared honors with MacRoberts, and the hits were well distributed among the players, according to Manager Waverly Pratt.

Next Friday evening the local team is scheduled to play Glendora at Glendora.

Horse Shoe Club Victors At Redondo

The Sierra Madre Horse Shoe Club won a 25-15 victory over a Redondo Beach Club last weekend, at an Elk's Club picnic in the beach city.

Meeting the Redondo pitchers on their city park courts, the Sierra Madre Hill Billies administered a sound beating to the Redondo players, according to John Chambers, secretary of the local club.

Postmaster Thomas E. Durning, Fred W. Anderson and Buss Perry were among the Sierra Madre pitchers who contributed to the victory.

Bill Clounch Pitched Game At Torrance

An opportunity to play semi-professional baseball came to Bill Clounch of the Sierra Madre Legion team, Monday, when he played nine innings with the Lometa Redwings against Pacific Clay, in a game at Torrance, and knocked a home-run.

Clounch was attending the game to watch the playing of his brother-in-law who is a member of the Redwing team, he said, and was offered a chance to fill an unexpected vacancy in the position of short-stop.

Clounch, with Dick Lambert, had an opportunity to try out at a St. Louis Cards Farm Club game in Arcadia on Sunday. The Cardinals' Farm Club management is trying out local baseball players from the San Gabriel Valley-Foothills area.

Baseball Opportunity Opens Close to Home N. Y. Giants' Camp

Local baseball players who aspire to the big leagues will have their opportunity in September, when the New York Giants will open a tryout camp for players at the Santa Anita County Park in Arcadia. The camp is described as being for players who are interested in getting into professional baseball.

Starting at 10 a. m. on September 17 and running for five days, the camp will be free to all, according to an announcement received this week from the Giants' Scout, Mickey Shader.

Contestants are requested to bring own equipment and pay their own expense. If signed to a contract, their expenses will be refunded, the announcement said.

Due to baseball rules, Junior American Legion players and boys in high school will not be allowed to attend.

Those wishing additional information were asked to contact Scout Mickey Shader, 25 Capra Way, San Francisco.

HUNTINGTON LIBRARY HAS ANNUAL CLOSE-UP

Extending its annual closing period for renovation from one to two months this year, the Huntington Library and Art Gallery will close Saturday, August 31, it was announced this week.

Following the customary cleaning, repairs and alterations of the galleries, prolonged this year by the labor shortage, the Library is scheduled for reopening to the public on Friday, November 1.

Safe Hunting

Hunters are cautioned to know and inspect their guns and ammunition before starting on a hunting trip, states the National Automobile Club. Gun safety is important to the pleasure of any trip into the field or forest; care in handling the weapons while enroute to the scene of the hunt; never climbing a fence with a piece in ones hands; complete abstinence from alcohol are prime safe hunting factors.

NEXT COURT OF HONOR SET FOR OCTOBER 7th

The largest group yet to attend a District Boy Scout Council meeting, heard officials lay plans for the formation of a Sea Scout Ship unit for Sierra Madre, last week at the home of William A. Kinney.

Four local Scout leaders, recently returned from active military service, were introduced: Ed Blakeman and Bill Newbery, Post Advisors to Senior Explorer Post No. 108, and George Shipway and Bert Embree, Scoutmaster and assistant Scoutmaster of Troop One.

A combined Court of Honor and annual installation of District Committee officers to be held Monday, October 7, was announced. Senior scouts of Explorer Post No. 108 will be in charge of the ceremony it was said.

Sierra Madre Fire Department Hosts to San Gabriel Valley Firemen Last Thursday

Sierra Madre's fire department was host Thursday night to approximately 150 members of the San Gabriel Valley Firemen's Association.

Proposals to be brought before the annual fireman's convention in Long Beach, September 23-26 were discussed by delegates from 55 city and county departments. The firemen's retirement plan was discussed by Charles Hildebrand of the Pasadena fire department, and hope was expressed for convention sponsored legislation to improve the present plan.

After the business meeing, the group, which met at Carl Hansen's Garage on West Sierra Madre boulevard, joined in group singing to the accompaniment of Eddie Brubach at the piano.

POLICE BLOTTER

Reports continue to come in of prowlers who leave footprints in fresh dirt, or who are seen through windows, or lurking among trees. While anyone can be mistaken about the presence of prowlers, it continues to be a wise policy to call the police department.

Report of someone hammering and sawing wood at 5 a. m. How rare is such ambition in this day! Another report of late revelers rousing the neighborhood at an early hour. Noises resulting from different motives, but both creating a public nuisance.

Loud radio . . funny how one's own radio can be just a loud as that annoying neighbor's who perhaps feels the same way toward us. . . A worried mother calls about her eight-year-old son who left to go swimming on his own. . . Crowing roosters reported as creating a disturbance . . . their crowing doesn't conform to everyone's arising hours.

Two loose horses reported in street. . . A car drives up to a street light, late at night, and speeds away as the light comes crashing down on the pavement. Unfortunately the license number was not noted.

Hole burned in awning of a home, believed caused by a cigarette thrown from the street. . . Carelessness or criminal intent—costly in either case. This was the second such occurrence at this place. . . A ration book lost. Will finder please return to owner whose coffee will otherwise go sugarless. . . Barking dog causes disturbance of peace. . . Mattress lost off car top. Will finder please call police department? . . Hysterical lady wants officer right away at certain address then hangs up before identifying herself. . . Party seeking smoke above Sturtevant Drive rightly reports same to fire department. Trees, brush and grass in the hills are all getting dried and crisper, and this is the season when the greatest precaution is called for. . . Other people's garbage cans thrown in street by someone with more of something else than responsibility. . . Boys reported shooting into Bailey canyon. Had disappeared on arrival of police. . . Man reported intoxicated and lying down on vacant lot. Was found to have laid down and gone to sleep. Perfectly sober. Presumably, just enjoying a siesta after a good dinner. Advised to go home to finish his nap. . . Stray cat roaming the streets. Booked on vagrancy. . . Horse tangled in rope. . . Neighbor with good intentions cuts neighbor's shrubbery, but act is not appreciated. Just a misunderstanding. . . Three small boys making big talk about how they were runaways from home in Toledo, Ohio. Admitted to police that their homes were in Altadena. They were sent home to their parents. . . "Hot-rods" creating a hazard to life and limb. No excuse for them. . . Hammering at night. Really annoying to a tooth ache sufferer.

Babbitt Family Home From Two Months' Soujourn

Mrs. Peggy Babbitt and family returned to their home at 304 W. Sierra Madre Blvd. last week from a 13,290 mile trip first visiting relatives in New York and returning via Northern Michigan and Wisconsin, just missing the tornado in Minnesota. They stopped in the Black Hills. Mrs. Babbitt reports the amount of building everywhere, even in the back country, is as evident as it is in Southern California. Although staying for some time in the Adirondack Mts. the Babbitt family voted the lake region of Wisconsin the loveliest country visited and Wyoming the most hospitable and Sierra Madre the best place to come back to.

Outdoor Living Not New in California

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 27.—Outdoor living in California is not merely a fad developed by fashionable architects; it was discovered by the earliest inhabitants, according to Dr. John W. Caughey, professor of history on the Los Angeles campus of the University of California.

In a chapter contributed to the new book, The Pacific Coast Ranges, Dr. Caughey points out that the California Indians paid very little attention to either shelter or clothing. Dwellings were usually the flimsiest of huts, casually put together.

"Insinuation has been made that this original California architecture was unpretentious out of respect to earthquake dangers," Dr. Caughey says; "the real reason seems to be that out-door life was more inviting, and interest in housing almost at the vanishing point.

"Though various tribes affected sandals, rabbit-skin robes, or basketry hats, many dispensed with clothing altogether for the males, Exposure to the elements apparently did not injure the Indians, for they had stamina, athletic prowess, and good posture. Colds were rare among them, and tuberculosis unknown."

PICNIC

The Oklahoma State Society of Southern California will hold its semi-annual picnic at Sycamore Grove Park Labor Day, Monday, September 2.

TO SETTLE ALL INDIAN CLAIMS . . . President Truman as he signed a bill creating a claims commission to handle all Indian claims. He expressed the hope that the measure "will mark the beginning of a new era for our Indian citizens."

By TOMMY NEWSOM

Webster's says a skunk is "a common musteline, (meaning he can claim kin with the Park Avenue mink) mammal of temperate North America having the power of ejecting an offensive odorous secretion."

It also says it is "Vulgar" to refer to a skunk as a "low, contemptible person."

Our tale today is only half vulgar. It's about a low skunk, Stinky.

Maybe his name isn't Stinky. But who's to say it isn't? And who's to say he isn't the same skunk that Paul across the way found making free with room and board in a basement dresser? At least that animal tendered the same odorous thanks as Stinky for the hospitality. The skunk. The ungrateful parasite.

Stinky is a foolish or hapless or adventuresome critter of the Mustelidae who put his nose too far into business that wasn't his and found himself behind it (the nose) at the bottom of a 15 ft. dry and empty cesspool on the vacant lot adjoining the Jim Dewey's. I don't know what skunks say when they arrive at such a situation, with no one to take action against but themselves, but I can guess that Stinky said it. There he was. And there he would have been today, as dry and relieved of all offensive mortality as the cesspool itself, had Jim not happened by.

Jim saw Stinky. He could have followed the Mammalian Code of the Woods— Survival of the Fittest or The Devil Take the Hindmost—and left Stinky with but the thought, "What a harmonious picture: a dead skunk in a dead cesspool." But Jim was Man and sympathy swelled his shirt. He decided to give the poor skunk a helping hand.

Rubber coveralls and a gas mask would have afforded wise precaution for the venture had he proceeded alone by ladder. But there being no such garb at his immediate disposal, Jim sought three friends and a blanket to carry out a non-contact method of approaching and securing the unfortunate victim.

By ropes tied to the four corners, the fellows lowered the blanket into the cesspool and manipulated it until Stinky was in its center.

Ah, Stinky, you are about to be saved. Four of your brothers Man, have given of their Saturday leisure, and have befriended you, that you might not perish in the grave of your own making. Arise, Stinky; give thanks.

Stinky arose. But not before he had exerted the unique power of his clan. For just before the blanket corners were simultaneously hoisted by his four rescuers, Stinky thumped the ground with his forepaws, and pfsst—delivered his thanks as only a skunk (I speak vulgarly) would. He was dumped in the farthest corner of the lot where he scampered away, coward that he was, leaving the woods disgraced for days with the odious memory of the gesture of his ingratitude.

Yes, Stinky, it is the like of you that puts the curse of man on your tribe. Not all of you are irrevocably bad. Some of you, properly deororized, make the best sort of pets. Some of you, properly dismantled, make as enviable coats as do your less malodorous cousins. (I'll still take beaver; no one has yet offered me mink.) Perhaps the indiscreet using of your unenvied ill power is not so much your blame as the blame of Nature who gives you that power for protection and defense but who apparently withheld the wisdom that would have enabled you to discern that all who approach you are not enemies.

It still remains, nevertheless, that for all you skunks who have odor and mantle intact, there's not a story in my files that would convince me you were blessed with, or have developed, any of the godly qualities. Even your religion is tainted, if we are to believe the old story that Mother Skunks, when their broods are approached by foreign footsteps, issue the command, "Let us spray."

However, To Each His Own, and you may find some comfort, if cold, in the thought that at least you are not given to the venom of the rattler of the murderousness of the Bengal.

You merely possess the property of a thing which affects in an unlovely manner the olfactory organs.

You merely, unfortunately, smell.

Legion Convention Against Compulsory Health Insurance

Warning of increased tax burdens and regimentation of the medical profession, the American Legion of California, at its 28th convention in San Francisco of more than 5000 delegates reafirmed its 1945 opposition to compulsory health insurance legislation.

The Legion resolution concluded with the statement that all forms of compulsion are incompatible with our American way of life "since our liberties and opportunities would be circumscribed."

The 5000 convention delegates represented approximately 170,000 California Legionnaires.

Three Worst Fire Months Are Here

August, September and October are the three worst months for forest fires in California because of high temperatures, low humidities, strong winds and low fuel moisture. If the loss from fire to timber and watershed lands is to be decreased this year, every traveller on California roads must cooperate by using the car ashtray instead of the car window when disposing of that match, cigarette or cigar.

The Frog TALKS about ROBERTS MARKET and Things

A SERMON

Six days a week the devil works-
Works overtime on Sunday—
And then he's ready once again
To go to work on Monday.

So if all evil you would shun
And keep your conscience level
You must begin at early dawn
And work just like the devil!

NOW I AM NOT SURE I subscribe to the above idea 'cause I insist on the right, Union or no, of having one day free for rest and meditation. I think a little relaxation is good for all of us. If we all worked "just like the devil", probably we would be so ornery and discombobulated that we'd drive away all you fine customers whose acquaintance has been so valuable to us.

AND SO TO MORE REDUNDANT observations from your redolent FROG. I sit right above the scallions, you know. (What's the matter? Don't you have a dictionary?)

IT IS STILL CANNING SEASON for those of you who have a sugar stamp. Last week it was tomatoes by the lug, and if you got them then you saved money, because this week they would have cost you twice as much! And I think you must have taken my tip on tomatoes. We sold almost 200 lugs. See? Now THIS WEEK I am featuring Little Rock Bartlett Pears by the lug. I will not tell you the price because I don't want to turn this blurb into a price ad, prices in my business having so little relation to quality when they are stressed as specials. You know how the ads read: "Fancy, Vine-Ripened Tomatoes, 3 lbs. 10c, whereas the darned stuff honestly should be described: "Small, Over-Ripe, Cull Tomatoes, etc."

HOWEVER, I WILL SAY THIS, our lug price on the above-mentioned Little Rock Pears will be less than that offered by anyone in the San Gabriel Valley. Now make us prove it!

AS USUAL, I CAN BRAG about having the most complete display of fancy fruits and garden-fresh vegetables you have ever seen. And do I have to name them all again this week? O. K. and thanks, folks! Just come in and look. I know you will buy!

THERE IS A MEAT DEPARTMENT here, too, as you well know! CLARE tells me that official sources report a great decline in retail sales during the month of July (with OPA off). Then he stresses the fact that during July our meat sales were greater than ever before. Could it be because we have kept our prices DOWN and our quality UP? Also in said Meat Department, regardless of OPA, SNAFU or what not, you will now, as always, find the finest of Beef, Veal, Lamb, Pork, Lunch Meats and Delicatessen items.

IT WOULD BE IMPOSSIBLE for me to sign off without saying something about the Grocery Department: CURLY tells me we have just received 1000 cases of FANCY canned fruits. He says we are gambling just a bit against the market in order to make sure there will be merchandise on the shelves for you during the coming year.

BY THE WAY, THERE IS NO limit on bread now, nor on butter or a lot of things which have previously concerned you. Rearing their bright, red faces once again are packaged Sun-Maid Seedless Raisins in sufficient quantity to justify a floor display. Just help yourself! Twenty kinds of Italian, French and Molotov Dressings are constantly available for adding that final touch so necessary to a cool, green salad—that touch which transforms salad vegetables from just good, raw food to an epicurean's delight! WHEW!

A frog who lives 'neath a large, green leaf,
By the side of a fern rimmed pool,
Has a lot to be said for his habitat:
At least he knows just how to keep cool.

Oh, he catches bugs and flies and such,
And sometimes dreams of things much finer
Yet, the heck of it is, he never is sure
If in the end he'll be dinner, not diner!

—Gail Griffin.

PANTS-WEARING HORSE . . . William Acklin, 12, Chicago, is one young man who believes in giving his horse every consideration. During the hot summer months, William not only put pants on "Timmy" to keep off the flies but also feeds his steed a noontime dessert of watermelon. Rather expensive food for a horse at current prices of watermelons on Chicago markets.

A Church Wedding With Many Guests And Reception-Dance at Club House Characterize LaLone-Norris Wedding

Two well known Sierra Madre families were united Saturday when Miss Georgyn Alice Norris and Edward LaLone made their wedding vows at the Congregational Church Saturday evening before 300 guests, Dr. Arthur O. Pritchard officiating.

The bride, daughter of the James G. Norris family of Mariposa, wore a white brocaded satin, styled with the long train and shoulder length veil. Her flowers were gardenias and the white orchid. The bride's twin sister, Mrs. Moureen Norris Baxter was the matron of honor.

Dianna and Donna Norris, twins, also sisters of the bride and Mrs. Charles Finley were bridal attendants who were gowned in identical pink taffeta dresses with net head piece and carried fuschia astors.

The masculine members of the wedding party were Robert LaLone, brother of the bridegroom, as best man and Earl and Richard LaLone with Chales Finley as ushers.

During the ceremony Edward McCloskey sang "I love you truly", accompanied at the organ by Miss Jean Askew.

A reception and dance followed at the Woman's Club House with music by Paul Worthington and his band.

Mr. and Mrs. LaLone are returning this week from a short honeymoon at Big Bear to make their home in Sierra Madre where Mr. LaLone is employed at the Suman Pottery.

Engagement to Local Man Told by Parents

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Linendoll of Pasadena have announced the engagement of their daughter, Mary Isabell to Richard C. Gerke, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Gerke of 602 Mariposa. Miss Linendoll will be a senior at the University of Colorado at Boulder this year where she met her fiancee last year while he was studying under the Navy College program.

Colleges Report a Scholastic Record for the GI Student

Nation's Youth Has New Purpose in Life

Veteran students have established a group record for scholastic accomplishment that has no parallel in the history of our schools, according to a survey just completed in 19 colleges and universities in California, Arizona, Nevada and Hawaii.

The survey, which covered the colleges and universities within the area of Los Angeles, reported former servicemen not only made better grades than the average non-veteran but demonstrated a seriousness of purpose and maturity which brought enthusiastic comments from every school in the poll.

Disabled veterans at U.C.L.A. outdistanced all other students in academic performance, a situation that is clearly becoming commonplace. They attained an overall average of nearly B, while 23 per cent made B averages or better. Their work suggests a revision of the thinking of many regarding the imagined veteran problem.

Handicapped veterans have a great determination in spite of their disabilities, schools reported in explaining reasons for their better scholastic showing. The University of California at Santa Barbara concluded in its report that service with the armed forces cured the Nation's youth of much of their lack of purpose which was so evident in the high school graduate before 1941. At the University of Southern California veterans have proved themselves to be exceptionally well adjusted and their progress as compared to non-veteran students slightly superior.

There will be more than 9,000 ex-GI students in USC when the fall term opens. Over 50 percent of veteran students enrolled at the present time are in the colleges of commerce and engineering. At least 25 per cent are entered in pre-professional courses.

"Bells of San Gabriel" Near Closing

The Mission drama, "Bells of San Gabriel", playing every Friday and Saturday nights in Mission Bowl, San Gabriel, will have its last performance September 9 as the final event of the Fiesta.

Throughout the summer, enthusiastic audiences have enjoyed the beauty and romance of California so well portrayed in this drama of the early days. The cast of 75, comprising the best artists in the field of music and drama and the dance present a spectacle never to be forgotten. The story, colorful and exciting is woven around actual events in the Mission's history while the songs and dances, with all the gay allure of Old Spain, bring back a thrilling chapter in California's history. September 9 is the last day to see "Bells of San Gabriel".

School Cafeteria Plans Announced

The school cafeteria staff is to be composed of Miss Chapman, home economics teacher and cafeteria manager, and assisted by Mrs. McClelland and Mrs. Rigney as well as student help from the upper grades. These helpers will be paid weekly this year and applications for this work will be taken previous to the opening of school.

Due to the increased cost of foods and other necessary cafeteria supplies the price of the lunches will be increased to twenty cents per plate but the price of milk will remain at five cents. It is planned to have the menus published previous to the week of serving them.

Present plans that are now being considered may provide opportunity for one class to utilize a part of our cafeteria as a classroom. If these plans meet the approval of the State Department of Education double sessions for our third grades may be avoided and all students will be on a regular schedule this fall.

BALLING
BABY TALK

BY MAXINE BALLING

AT LAST! Some practical genius has invented a gadget to heat Baby's bottle in the car! No more do you have to stop when on a trip and ask some unsympathetic waiter to take Junior's bottle back in the greasy kitchen and heat it up. Now you can get an "Auto Nurse" at the Balling Baby Shop, your husband can attach it to the steering wheel post in a few minutes, then when you're driving and it's time for the bottle, you just plop the bottle in the cup-shaped thing and the weight of the bottle (4 ounces or more) turns on the heat, just like that! It uses no more current than headlights. You even have a choice of several colors. "Auto Nurse" is one of the greatest inventions since the safety pin. Makes a dandy gift. $4.95.

SOME OF THE CUTEST SLACKS just came in, girls' sizes 7 to 14. Some are brown or black checks for $4.95, and there are 100% wool plaids for $7.95. Solid red or Navy blue flannels in sizes 3 to 6 are $3.95. (One teen-ager I know took a pair of the brown-and-white checks home, whacked them off at the knee and made the cutest pedal-pushers you ever saw)!

FOR THE BOYS who wear size 2 to 6 we have some new slack suits . . . solid brown, blue or beige slacks, and jackets which I can't call "loafer jackets" because Desmonds have that name registered, but by now I'm sure you've gotten the idea that the fronts match the slacks and the sleeves, collars and backs are tweeds or checks. They're $15.95.

THE NEWS IS GETTING AROUND . . . about our custom-made dresses for $6.50 to $7.95 . . . and we sell more and more of them every week. They're really lovely materials and styles, and beautifully made.

You can charge it, or lay it away, at the Balling Baby Shop, where you see the bawling babies in the window at 401½ South Myrtle, in Monrovia.

GRINS by THE CAB DRIVER

Recently, after receiving frantic calls from the drivers, Mrs. Lovejoy called the police about a grey car that was parked in the taxi parking area. The police promptly issued a ticket.

It was later discovered that it was Mr. Jovejoy's newly painted car, minus the familiar Wistaria cab markings.

Moral:
Don't park in the taxi stand even if you are in an unmarked cab.

ROUND THE TOWN

◆ Guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Goldwater, 600 Woodland drive, for two weeks are Beebe Kozer and Adela Sherman of Chicago.

◆ A message from Jamestown, Pa., written by the Dan Lewis' say they are headed for home after a very pleasant trip in the East.

◆ Norman Jensen and son, Russell, left Sunday evening for Davis, California, where his son, Norman, Jr., is enrolled at the University of California School of Agriculture. The Jensens plan an extended trip through the Northern part of the state, returning in about two weeks.

FIRE FLAMES

August 24. 9:35 A. M.— As this is being written the Heasley's are leaving Snake River and are heading inward in Oregon State, the next stop probably to be Baker. At this particular section the hills are rounded and covered with dry grass similar to the hills around Covina, Calif. Further on they reach mountain heights and look very barren of trees. Brown with dry grass. We left Nampa, Idaho, this A. M. after having spent a few joyous days with relatives there who treated us as though we were folks from the higher brackets. Right amongst the irrigated farms of the Boise Valley we ate fruit and vegetables directly from the trees, ground, vine and bush. The comparison of taste can only be imagined by those who have experienced "from garden to pot" eating. One of the first things this writer made a dive for was the middle of a tomato patch, red with smooth, ripe fruit. 'Twas like a trip back to see "mother on the farm"!

A visit to the Fire Department Headquarters of Nampa disclosed that only a few weeks ago a police car and a fire truck met at an intersection resulting in several men badly injured and both truck and car damaged beyond repair. This is only proof that we in Sierra Madre are in great danger when cars run wild following a fire alarm.

In Nampa there are seven men to a shift and on duty at all times. Surrounded by farms, Nampa gives its firemen the occasion now and then to run to prevent a burning haystack from reaching farmhouses and barns. Many have been saved through the work of the men with a "rural tanker." A town of nearly 15,000 people, Nampa has a low fire loss. The Chief credits this to continuous fire prevention work. Because of the green fields and green pastures at this time of the year, there is not the danger that we have in our California district.

One of a fire-conscious mind cannot escape the wondering if all is well at home. Can only hope that our mountains have not been visited by fire, and, more ardently, that none have lost their homes. Only carefulness to the nth degree will keep the "Fires Out."

LABOR DAY

On this Labor Day of 1946 it cannot be said that labor's record as a whole in the first full year of peace can be favorably compared with its outstanding performance during the war.

The year just past has been marked by extensive and intensive industrial strife, the likes of which this Nation hasn't seen in decades, if ever. Labor is not solely to blame for what has happened. But it cannot escape the major share of responsibility for the strikes and work stoppages which have so seriously retarded our reconversion program.

Today labor organizations stand at the crossroads. Their conduct in the next year or two can either greatly advance their cause or it can damage it still more than has already been done.

One thing is clear: labor needs more intelligent leadership. It needs leaders more genuinely concerned with the welfare of workers than with political power. It needs men more keenly aware of the rights of the public and the importance of public opinion.

In many unions throughout the country there are men of importance who recognize that labor's present over aggressive and shortsighted course may result in the loss of numerous advantages won during the past several decades. They are seeking to bring a greater degree of common sense into the politics of their unions. The extent to which they succeed will have a vital bearing on the degree of real progress achieved by labor organizations in the future.

Let us hope that this next year will bring greater harmony to the industrial scene and a new record in production and prosperity.

AUGUST 28, 1908

A committee of Alhambra citizens visited Sierra Madre Tuesday morning for the purpose of inspecting the school building here, in search of ideas for a new building in Alhambra. "This is by all odds the best we have seen," was the unanimous expression after visiting a number of other cities for the same purpose.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Letteau have kindly offered their residence for the next card party to be given by the Woman's club Tuesday evening. The usual games, whist, flinch and five hundred will be played. All those desiring to enjoy this social evening and aid the excellent work the club has undertaken, are invited to engage tickets early as the number is limited to 80.

Mrs. A. M. Burnett and daughter, Winnifred of Cleveland, Ohio, spent the first of the week with Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Kersting.

Phillip Carter shot a fine 125-pound buck near the Quarter Way house Wednesday.

AUGUST 28, 1931

A report setting forth its findings and recommendations after a survey of Sierra Madre's municipal affairs undertaken several months ago by the California Taxpayers' Asocciation has just been made public.

Citing the tax rate here for municipal purposes of $2.22 for the current year, the report says "it appears high".

Thirty-six men who have been clearing brush and trees from the path of the Santa Anita avenue extension have completed their work to the point where actual grading of the roadway will begin.

The County Employment Stabilization bureau is spreading the work out so as to care for the largest possible number of unemployed.

A decision to oppose and if possible to prevent the Central avenue improvement, was reached at a meeting of 35 citizens held at the Woman's club house Monday night.

As a result of the meeting, protest petitions to be presened at the City Council's hearing fixed for September 10, made their apperance Tuesday morning and are being circulated throughout the city.

Coming up out of the San Gabriel Valley, a freak thunder storm accompanied by wisps of rain, struck Sierra Madre last night and passed into the mountains.

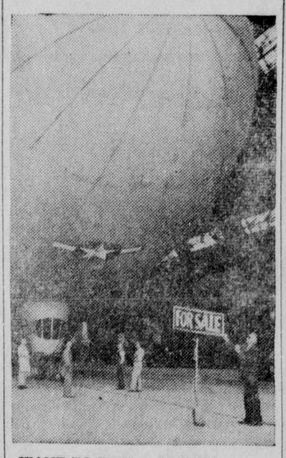

Patrolling for fires during the electrical storm, members of the volunteer fire department were notified that a tall eucalyptus tree on the Brice Academy estate, Carter and Grand View avenues, had been struck by lightning and was burning briskly. The small truck was dispatched to the scene ,and with its special apparatus, the fire was soon extinguished.

Playing twelve games of chess simultaneously against members of the Sierra Madre Chess club, Saturday afternoon, H. R. Kasielke of Pasadena won seven and lost five.

MYSTERIOUS MISSILES

Word from the Scandinavian countries reveals that missiles much like the Nazi rockets are passing over and landing in sparsely populated areas. The rockets do not carry explosives and in some instances appear to be radio controlled. Officially, their source is a mystery, but there seems little doubt that they originate in Russian-held Germany where the Nazis had their principal research facilities for the development of rockets. Apparently the Russians are making tests with these missiles just as we are. The difference is however, that we are using our own territory for that purpose whereas, the Soviets are using whatever territory they need—either their own or that of someone else. Could it be that the reckets are being sent over Scandinavia just to show how easily their cities and factories could be destroyed in case of war—and to help "persuade" those countries to be nice to Moscow?

A new 12-mi tunnel through the Andes, with terminals in Argentina and Chile, is being planned: when built, it will be the longest mountain tunnel in the world.

WANT TO BUY A BLIMP? . . . A bargain in blimps at only $7,500 may be had at Moffett Field, Calif. This is the asking price, inflated and ready to fly away, of the war surplus authorities.

RECORD FAMILY AT CHILD CITY . . . Here is the all-time record of children in the history of Mooseheart, the "child city," 35 miles from Chicago, operated by the Loyal Order of Moose. With Mrs. Esther Wuchts, 33, Joliet, Ill., are left to right: Mary, 14; Delores, 13; James, 11; Shirley, 10; Albert, 9; Kenneth, 7; Patricia, 6; Rose Marie, 5; Robert, 4, and Esther, 22 months. The baby held by Mrs. Wuchts was born at the Mooseheart hospital.

AROUND AND ABOUT

By EDWARD LLOYD VOORHEES

NORTHERN ENGLAND— England Lakes and haunts of poets.

The English Lake country as I saw it in late July lingers in my memory as a unique district of high, rugged hills, often bare of trees except at their bases and dotted with flocks of sheep and occasional cattle. The bases of the hills are often laved by the waters of one of the lakes which with their inlets and outlets form a complex pattern over an area of some 1500 square miles lying between the Pennine Chain of mountains to the sast and the Cambrian Mountains to the west, in the northwest corner of England toward Solway Firth and Scotland. At the water's edge and up the hillsides are quaint and lively market towns with such names as Pentrith, Cockermouth, Koswick, and Ambleside. In summer these towns are also overflowing with tourists, both foreign and domestic, for the Lake District is as much beloved by the British people as it is a magnet of curiosity to foreigners, particularly to us Americans.

To the many Americans who have cultivated in youth something more than a "required" interest in the British romantic poets the Lake District is an object of affectionate interest, for here lived and wrote William Wordsworth, Samuel Taylor Coleridge, Robert Southy, Thomas De Quincey, and others only less notable. One hundred years ago, even when the population of England was less than half what it is today, Wordsworth felt the pressures of oncoming "materialism". As a native of this quiet agricultural corner of a nation "booming" with its rapidly growing industrial prosperity in the mines and mills of the smoky Five Towns just south of the tranquil Lakes, he issued a timely warning in what is the most famous and perhops best of his sonnets beginning:

> The world is too much with us; late and soon,
> Getting and spending, we lay waste our powers;
> Little we see in Nature that is ours;
> We have given our hearts away, a sordid boon!

A little meditation upon those lines will convince most thoughtful persons of the seriousness of our loss of something not to be entirely retrieved by an occasional dash up well-built mountain roads in a high-powered automobile for an hour's basket supper in a prepared picnic ground —though that is an infinitely better encounter with Nature than standing in line to feed at some over-crowded wayside feedbag.

Public conveyances from the cities to the Lake District on a summer weekend convinced me that chowds and their discomfort at too much physical proximity are peculiar to no country and common to all. The second-class coach that Saturday from Cambridge was crowded, sunny, humid, and fiercely hot after what I learned had been an eight-weeks drought in that section. To make matters worse, my Yankee speech was probably to blame for the train guard's misunderstanding me when I inquired about a change of trains at Ely for Windermere, for I consequently boarded a train which took me to a place colled Windon. When I had asked, "Windermere?" he had evidently understood me to ask "Windon here?" —so my little extra jaunt stretched out to what seemed 100 extra miles, several changes of train before I got back where I belonged, and an actual four hours delay in reaching Windemere.

However, I am a firm believer in the law of compensation—both good and not so good. On one of these trains among the six or seven changes the second-class coach was so crowded that I stepped into the baggage car and stood there to get a breath of air. As I politely but firmly declined the conductor's suggestion that I go into the adjacent third-class coach, he finally reacted humanely and took me into a first-class coach and to a seat opposite a cool-and-comfortable looking Englishman. This gentleman proved a most affable, agreeable, and communicative companion. A well-groomed and prepossessing Oxonian, who appeared to be 40 and avowed himself 51, he spoke of his life at Canterbury, whose cathedral organ he sometimes played for the popular 7:00 P. M. service. Sometimes when in London he also played the organ occasionally at St. Paul's where his brother was on the Cathedral staff. Touching on politics he said that at the moment he could see no English statesman coming on who promised to equal the caliber of Arthur Balfour. Perhaps he has proved correct in his forecast. He showed a keen and intelligent interest in current events in th U. S. A., including that "noble experiment", Prohibition, and was puzzled that such a piece of legislation could have been enacted. But all his comment, had the disarming quality of engaging wit and a happy sense of humor.

All in all, the cordiality and warmth of Mr. H's attitude to an American tourist, met casually under circumstances involving no obligation to be more than civil and conventionally polite, was another instance which helped still further to break down in my mind the legend prevalent in our U. S. A. that Englishmen are usually aloof in railway carriages and difficult to pick up an acquaintance with anywhere. The fact that he was a lover of music and evidently an accomplished musician himself leads me to make a generalization. It occurs to me that with one or two exceptions all the interpreters of high qualiy music that I have encountered, and especially masters of the pipe organ, have been men of good will, essentially sweet-tempered, zestful for the best things in life, an incentive to generous and happy living. Does the "universal language" which music provides keep open a window that gives them a view beyond the tumult and the shouting? It may be that Robert Browning, himself no mean musician, was speaking sober fact when he makes the old Bavarian Kapellmeister, Abbot Vogler, say:

> But God has a few of us
> whom he whispers in the ear;
> The rest may reason and welcome; 'tis we musicians know.

How to bake and broil -BOTH AT ONCE!

Plan for a CP Gas Range

Save your oh's and ah's, lady. You'll need them, and plenty—when you see what's in store for you in the beautiful, new CP Gas Ranges. Many have the separate, smokeless broiler units. They're a dream come true—marvels of convenience and efficiency. You can turn out delicious baked potatoes or other tasty baked treats in one side, while you broil steak, fish, or fowl in the other—at the same time. No lag in serving. No hustling to speed up broiling while baked foods cool. And this "double feature" is only one of many that will bring a new high in Certified Performance. Check them all and you'll agree—for care-freedom, for economy, for better living you owe yourself a CP Gas Range.

A touch of your finger and you have just the right heat instantly. You see what you get—heat so flexible, so precise, so uniform, it makes any cook a better cook.

Enjoy a swim while the automatic clock control "watches" your dinner. The meal will start cooking after you've gone out and be done to a turn when you're ready to serve.

He-man size griddle on many models is grand for frying pancakes, bacon, eggs, fish, etc. Flame provides evenly distributed, constant heat over entire griddle.

Shining, gleaming porcelain enamel is so easy to keep clean. Your new range stays spick-and-span with a minimum of work—streamlined design makes for easier cleaning, too.

Number of Divorces Approach Marriages In L. A. County

Divorces granted in Los Angeles county in 1945 equaled nearly 90 percent of all marriage licenses issued for the year, according to official figures released last week. Divorces totaled 33,267 for the year, while 37,090 marriage licenses were issued.

Calling attention to the cyclonic divorce increase in the county, F. Charles O'Leary, Chairman of the Central Citizens committee, speaking at a recent meeting in Glendale, told of a judge who remarked at a divorce action that if divorce continued at its present rate there would soon be no married persons left. "Frequently, domestic quarrels start over almost nothing at all," O'Leary observed, "but if neither party makes any sincere effort to patch up their difficulties, and stubbornly maintains his or her position, sooner or later they wind up in the divorce courts."

To control this situation it was recommended, especially when children are involved, that either husband of wife refer their problems to The Children's Court of Conciliation, 13th floor, City Hall, Los Angeles, sign the necessary papers and go into the matter fully.

On the date fixed for the hearing, the Court Director, who is a specialist in domestic relaions, interviews husband and wife separately, to determine the cause of their trouble; then, calling both parties together, points out the sources of inharmony with the suggested remedy. Upon the parties' promises to comply, the matter is often solved quickly and without publicity, the citizens committee chairman pointed out.

Pershing Square May Become 2500 Car Sub-Parking

First steps in formation of a master transportation plan for Los Angeles and engineering approval of extensive off-street parking facilities were announced today by a spokesman of the Chamber of Commerce Metropolitan Traffic Transit Committee.

The plan will be drawn following an intensive study of all previous surveys. The possibility of a subway will be discussed thoroughly.

Proposed off-street parking facilities would provide about 10,000 additional car spaces within three years.

Chief means of providing the additional space will be a garage under Pershing Square. It will accommodate 2500 cars. Engineering and non-profit financing details already have been presented to the Los Angeles Downtown Parking association.

There's no better example of the crowded housing situation than the combination of a small summer cottage and a few relatives.

20 YEARS OF SOUND

It's hard to realize that 20 years have passed since the "movies" became "talkies" and a great revolution came to Hollywood.

Like many other new developments the talkies weren't supposed to last. But like many other new developments they did—especially after Warner Brothers made a couple of million dollars on the "Jazz Singer" with Al Jolson, and then doubled that amount with another Jolson film "The Singing Fool".

The Hollywood revolution saw some of the "kings" and "queens" of the silent days become silent permanently when their voices proved inadequate for recording. Most notable victims were John Gilbert and Raymond Griffith who were then favorites.

But while the talkies were tragic to some they were magic to others. Many actors such as James Cagney, Spencer Tracy, and Joan Blondell got a chance in the movies because of their stage experience and became luminaries in the Hollywood sky.

Sound has added much to the entertainment value of good pictures but it has made the bad ones worse. In the "silent" days all the patron had to do was shut his eyes if he didn't enjoy the picture. Now he must either use ear muffs or walk out.

But after 20 years one thing has become certain—the talkies are here to stay ,except that nobody ever goes to the "talkies". They attend the "movies".

AS TO REVOLUTIONS

Inferiors revolt in order that they may be equal, and equals in order that they may be superior. Such is the state of mind which creates revolutions.—Aristotle on Politics.

A rubber company promises a new type of underlay that will anchor rugs, even to highly polished floors. This anchoring process should foil the accepted theory that maids use rugs as dust caches.

COOL AS A CUCUMBER

When your kitchen thermometer soars, and only in your imagination can you travel to the breeze - cooled beach, an icy cold milk shake or frosted glass of tangy fruit punch will do wonders for lowering the temperature and elevating your hot weather disposition.

Too hot to cook? Toss together a crisp salad of summer vegetables laced with strips of cheese and cold meat to satisfy appetites, or top colorful fresh fruits with smooth sherbet for a dessert salad.

In summer let the refrigerator do the "cooking" or everything on the menu from jellied bouillion to pecan pie.

CHICKEN SALAD SUPREME

- ½ c. vinegar
- ½ c. chicken fat (at room temperature)
- 1 tsp. sugar
- ¼ tsp. salt
- 1 avocado, peeled and sliced
- 3 tomatoes, cut in wedges
- 2 c. cooked chicken in ¾-inch pieces
- 1½ c. celery, chopped
- ¾ c. broken walnuts
- ¼ c. lemon juice
- 1 small cucumber sliced

Make French dressing by combining chicken fat, vinegar, sugar and salt. Marinate avocado, tomatoes and cucumber in dressing. Add remaining ingredients and mix lightly. Season with salt. If desired, add mayonnaise or salad dressing. Serves 4 to 6.

MOLASSES PECAN CHIFFON PIE

- 1 envelope plain gelatine
- ¼ c. cold milk
- 2 tbsp. sugar
- ¼ tsp. salt
- 3 tbsp. molasses
- 2 eggs, separated
- 1 c. light cream or ½ c. evaporated milk and ½ c. water
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- ¼ c. chopped pecans
- 1 nine-inch baked pie shell or Graham cracker crust

Soak gelatine in cold milk. Combine sugar, salt, molasses and egg yolks; mix well. Scald cream or evaporated milk and water; add, and cook over hot water until custard coats a metal spoon (stirring constantly). Add gelatine and vanilla. Cool in pan of ice water until custard begins to thicken. Fold in stiffly-beaten egg whites and pecans. Pour into pastry shell. Place in refrigerator for pie to become firm. If desired, spread whipped cream thinly on top and garnish with whole pecans. Yield: 1 nine-inch pie.

pulsions which disrupt comunity life."

On the basis of the above facts, the following simple rules are recommended:

1. Avoid overtiring and extreme exercise.
2. Avoid crowds but do not take children out of school. There is more likelihood of exposure to new carriers when children are taken out of school.
3. Do not swim in contaminated waer. Swimming pools are not closed, but contacts to new people who may be carriers of poliomyelitis may be made at swimming pools, as at other places where people assemble.
4. Avoid sudden chilling such as plunging into cold water on a hot day. Do not remain long in cold water.
5. Wash hands thoroughly before eating and always after using the toilet. Wash your hands after having been in any public place.
6. Postpone tonsil and adenoid operations.
7. Keep flies away from food. Screen windows and doors against flies. Keep garbage cans closed tightly. Have garbage picked up before maggots appear.
8. Sleep well, eat well. Be sure to get plenty of sleep. Poliomyelitis hits the tired person.
